BIBLE THOUGHT FOR TODAY

Proclaim liberty throughout all the land unto the inhabitants thereof.—Lev. 25:10.

Liberty is the very corner stone of Christian civilization. Those who want to deprive the world of liberty must first destroy Christianity. A third of the world is bent on destroying Christianity because they want to make slaves of their own people and the rest of the world as well. Christianity is a mighty fortress of liberty.

FORCE IS DANGEROUS HABIT—EVEN AGAINST PRORED REGIME

Editorial—BY BRUCE BLOSSAT

UNDERSTANDABLY, the American people have a natural sympathy for the insurgents revolting in Guatemala against the Communist-influenced government of President Jacobo Arbenz Guzman. But they do not condone resort to violence.

The pattern of revolution by force is, of course, an old one in the banana republics and Latin America generally. But the United States has in recent decades tried to exert its influence toward stable government and orderly, peaceful change.

That is why our government wants now to put the Guatemalan rebellion before the Western Hemisphere's security group, the Organization of American States. Though our own security is deeply bound up in what happens in Guatemala, we wish to avoid single-handed action. Our hope is collective action by all the American governments.

The Soviet Union, functioning through the UN Security Council has vetoed hemisphere action under the wing of the UN. But this move cannot prevent the American states from meeting and deciding on some sort of joint program for dealing with the Guatemalan crisis.

In spite of all such efforts by the United States to place the problem in a hemispheric framework, Russia undoubtedly will have considerable success in blaming this country for the uprising.

We are denying that we have given any aid to the insurgents, who are led by certain prominent Guatemalan exiles. But it would be a pretty good guess that Col. Carlos Castillo Armas, the rebel leader, had at least a quiet understanding of where official U. S. sympathies would lie, before he undertook the enterprise.

Many will speedily assume that secretly we have gone much farther than this, but proof may be hard to come by.

WHETHER we have done more or not, much of the world will assume we have, judging the matter on the intensity of our interest in a country so close to home. But whatever we have in fact done, we know we must sincerely strive to put this problem in the collective hands of all the American states.

Resort to force is a catching habit. Violence used here against a Communist-supported regime could in another instance be used by Reds to snuff out a free government. The precedent is dangerous. Moreover, if the American nations expect to carry any moral weight in the other troubled hemisphere, they must employ the orderly procedures they themselves have established for meeting just such situations as this in Guatemala.

The present Guatemalan government possesses arms shipped from Red Poland. Its relations with Honduras and other neighbors are bad, and it has been cited itself as a threat to the peace. However the current revolt comes out, there is plenty of reason for joint discipline of the Arbenz regime by the nations of this hemisphere.

The WASHINGTON MERRY-GO-ROUND

BY DREW PEARSON

DREW PEARSON Says: Triple Alternate Defense Lines Drawn For Far East; U. S. Would Fight Alone To Save Japan; German Rearmament Brings Fears Of History Repeating.

WASHINGTON. — Shortly before Winston Churchill arrived for his talks with Eisenhower, the National Security Council, which seems to be making the chief foreign affairs decisions these days, drew up an extremely important new policy for the Far East.

Churchill will doubtless find this policy a little easier to swallow than the tough and drastic intervention program, which Adm. Arthur Radford tried to sell him in London six weeks ago. Hence there should be a reasonable basis for agreement between England and the United States in the Far East.

In brief, here is the new policy adopted by the National Security Council. The United States has now drawn up three defense lines. If the Communists step across one of these defense lines, the United States will fight only with the co-operation and support of the United Nations. If the Reds step over the second defense line, we will fight in alliance with any of the countries invaded regardless of the U. N.

If the Communists step over the third defense line, we will fight whether we have any allies or not.

WHERE WE FIGHT

Defense Line No. 1—Indo-China—here we will fight only with U. N. backing. If the United Nations acts to support the three small countries of Indo-China, the United States will go to war with the U. N. Furthermore, if the Red Chinese push across the border in numbers, we will urge the U. N. to intervene. In this case we would retaliate directly against Red China.

Defense Line No. 2—Includes South Korea, the Philippines, all the island chains down through the East Indies, including Formosa; also embracing Thailand, Burma, and Malaya. If any of these countries are attacked, we will invoke our defense treaties with them and go to war. If we have no defense treaties at the moment, we will endeavor to sign some shortly. Efforts will be made to bring all these areas within the Pacific NATO.

Defense Line No. 3—Includes all U. S. territories, U. S. trusts and U. S. possessions in the Pacific, plus Japan. This last is significant. It means the United States would go to war to save Japan whether our allies join us or not.

This is the reason President Eisenhower spoke so candidly about trade with Japan during the newspaper editors dinner this week. For today, the key to our entire Far Eastern policy is Japan. The National Security Council has decided to encourage a strong and friendly Japan to counterbalance the China-Russia alliance, and because Japan is dependent upon imports she can be starved into allegiance to the Communists. That is one reason why Burma, Thailand, the Malays, and Indonesia are so important. They have been big Japanese markets in the past.

The above strategy comes much closer to representing the views of all members of the Joint Chiefs of Staff, most of whom disagreed with their chairman, Admiral Radford. Admiral Radford has now retreated from his proposed immediate intervention in Indo-China and is willing to accept the above three-defense-line policy.

NO SENATE SEGREGATION

A small Negro boy looked longingly at a candy counter through the open door of the Senate restaurant. Finally he stopped a passerby.

"Do they 'low colored boys in there to buy a chocolate bar?" he asked timidly.

"I'll say you can go in there," replied the stranger. "You're going in there with me."

The boy picked out his candy and pulled a lonely dime out of his pocket. But the stranger had already paid for it. The boy's face brightened up and he dashed off happily without asking his benefactor's name—Senator Dennis Chavez, Democrat, of New Mexico.

WILL GERMANY REPEAT?

A high-level diplomatic conference took place in London the other day which pinpoints one of the main problems Churchill and Eisenhower are now discussing.

It was a meeting of top U. S. ambassadors from western Europe, including Winthrop Aldrich, envoy to London; Douglas Dillon, envoy to France; and Dr. James Conant, U. S. high commissioner to Germany. Mrs. Clare Boothe Luce was not able to come from Italy because of poor health. She has been nervously upset by Communist inroads upon Italy. However, Livingston Merchant, assistant secretary of state for western Europe, flew to London especially for the meeting.

Highlight of the meeting was Commissioner Conant's report that unless Germany was given the right to set up her own army, Chancellor Adenauer would fall sometime this summer.

Utility wires and a bush broke the fall and Bennis escaped with a slight back injury.

---AND A GOOD TIP FOR YOU

WHEN it comes to sales, every car maker aspires to be up at the top of his price class.

Which is only natural. Popularity like that means success.

We know, because for years Buick has held such an envied position—the unquestioned sales leader in its class. And with good reasons in styling, room, power, value.

But today, folks like you have pushed Buick success even beyond such bounds.

Today, the top sales standings of a full generation have been changed.

Today, latest sales figures for the first four months of 1954 reveal this phenomenal fact:

In total national volume, regardless of price class, Buick is outselling all cars in America except two of the so-called "low-price three."

That's a tip too good to pass up.

That's the tip-off that Buick must have the hottest styling of the times and the sweetest performance of the year.

More important, that's the tip-off that Buick prices are well within the reach of more and more people—and that such prices buy a lot more automobile per dollar. So why not look into the tomorrow-styled Buick that puts you so far ahead today?

Come in, or phone us this week for a demonstration. Then you can judge for yourself that Buick really is the beautiful buy—by far.

She wore organza mitts and carried an arm bouquet of white daisies.

Methodist W. S. C. S. Has General Meeting In Library

The general meeting of the W. S. C. S. of the First Methodist church was held in the public library Wednesday afternoon with Mrs. Gus Syers, general chairman, presiding. Mrs. John Schwartz offered the opening prayer.

Recommendations by the executive committee were read and accepted, and the finance committee presented the budget for the coming year which was also approved and accepted.

Mrs. Schwartz, vice chairman, then presented three young guests, Judy Morse, Jane Lasersohn and Myra Burnham, who participated in the program. Judy gave the devotion, using as her subject "The Universal Church," reading part of the hymn "The Church's One Foundation." During her inspirational talk she stated that "Truly we need to make Christ the center of our life, One Lord, One Faith and One Foundation."

Jane, secretary of Christian outreach of the M. Y. F., told of her trip to Milwaukee, Wisc., where she attended the fourth assembly of the Woman's Society. There were over five thousand women from the United States and foreign countries present. She was accompanied by Mrs. C. E. Wing and Mrs. L. N. Davenport. Jane told of the wonderful experiences she had and how much she enjoyed the fellowship with the girls from foreign countries as well as our country.

At the close of the meeting Myra Burnham sang "The Lord's Prayer," accompanied by Mrs. Harold Parker.

The song was beautifully sung and as the members left the meeting they had a feeling of thankfulness in their hearts for the young girls, the talents God had given them, and for their generous use of these talents for the church.

The broadcast, monitored here, said the appeal to Russia was received Thursday from Guatemalan Foreign Minister Guillermo Toriello.

The Guatemalan note said the Soviet government "always has come forward resolutely against aggression."

House Subcommittee Approves Absentee Voting By Peacetime Servicemen

By United Press
A House Administration subcommittee voted today to give peacetime servicemen the same absentee voting privileges available when the nation is at war.
The group also proposed broadening the World War II soldier vote law's "advisory" provisions under which states are urged to make it easy for servicemen to cast absentee votes in primary and non-federal elections.
The mandatory provisions apply only to elections for President, vice president and members of Congress. The law, enacted in 1942, now is effective only during a state of war.
The subcommittee also voted to amend the act so it will recommend to the states that the same "ease" in absentee voting be given wives of servicemen, civilian federal employees serving outside the United States, merchant mariners, and members of religious groups and such agencies as the Red Cross who are serving with the armed forces.
Other news:
Guatemala: The Senate Foreign Relations committee unanimously approved a resolution urging the organization of American states to take "appropriate action to prevent any interference by the international Communist movement" in the Western Hemisphere. Acting Committee Chairman H. Alexander Smith (R-N.J.) said the resolution would be brought up for Senate action later today. It was introduced by Senate Democratic Leader Lyndon B. Johnson (Tex.).
Defense Plants: Royal W. France, representing the National Lawyers Guild, and Rep. Herman P. Eberharter (D-Pa.) testified against an administration bill to bar suspected subversives from defense plants. France told a House Judiciary subcommittee the measure is a "dangerous and far-reaching encroachment on fundamental liberties." Eberharter said it and a companion measure giving the government power to dissolve Communist-infiltrated organizations are aimed in "the direction of destroying the democratic fabric of our society."
Services: The Senate Armed Services Committee approved an authorization for two additional assistant secretaries in the Army, Navy and Air Force.
Enlistments: The Senate Armed Services Committee voted to pay increased re-enlistment bonuses to first term servicemen in an effort to increase the number of career men in the military services.
Trade: Democrats sniped at Republicans for failing to support President Eisenhower's liberalized trade program following the Senate's action Thursday in voting only a one-year extension of the present Reciprocal Trade Act.

THE HIGH-LEVEL SQUINT

thinks he knows the forest — but has never met a tree

The SQUINT is an advertising executive who prefers to float above the rough-and-tumble of selling.

He thinks he gets the "big view" by closing his eyes to details... and thinks of the nation as a one-color map — where towns and people and needs are gratifyingly all alike.

And he advertises accordingly.

Fortunately the SQUINT is a rare creature. Most ad-men know that sales problems vary.

They know, for example that one town may buy twice as many girdles or puddings or toothpaste as another town even though incomes are equal — because regions are different, tastes are different, and people are different!

So most advertisers concentrate on areas that pay — instead of spending loftily in across-the-board campaigns.

Their "national" advertising starts at the local level — in newspapers!

All business is local...and so are all newspapers!

Girl Fatally Injured
In Fall from Horse

SPRINGFIELD, Ill. — Janet Sue Blauer, 7, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Robert S. Blauer, Springfield, died Thursday of injuries suffered a few hours earlier when she fell from a horse.

The little girl had been riding the horse behind her 11-year-old brother southwest of Springfield when she fell.

Dismiss Suit
On Segregation at Centralia Pool

CARLYLE, Ill. — (UP) — A suit seeking an end to racial segregation in the municipal swimming pool at Centralia was dismissed in Circuit Court today presumably because Negroes have been admitted to the pool since it opened May 28.

Attorney Billy Jones of East St. Louis, who represented the Centralia chapter of the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People, telephoned the court this morning that he was mailing a motion for dismissal.

Circuit Clerk E. J. Venhaus said the suit was dismissed by Judge Ward Holt "by motion of defendant with prejudice" and that the case now is closed and no individual can be sued for damages.

The NAACP originally asked a ban on segregation, prosecution of city officials under the Illinois Civil Rights Act and fines totaling $2,500 for city officials.

STREET ROD

by Henry Gregor Felsen

Copyright 1953 by Henry Gregor Felsen. Printed by arrangement with the publishers, Random House, Inc. Distributed by NEA Service.

THE STORY: Ricky Madison's car craze has made itself felt in many ways. At the age of 16, he has spent his savings to buy a car which he is transforming into a hot rod. But his friends still rib him about the machine, for they know that Ricky paid more for the old "junkie" than it was worth.

XII

Link looked amused, but didn't accept the challenge. "When your car has what mine has, I'll be ready. But I don't feel like wasting gas now."

"That's a new way to chicken out," Ricky said. But he knew Link could run away from him, and he was glad to let the matter drop.

Sherm lifted his head. He saw Ricky for the first time. "Hi, Rick," he said cheerfully. "How's the Connor-Madison Special?"

Link howled, and even Chub and Jerry had to laugh. Ricky didn't answer, Sherm went back to his reading.

Link winked at Chub, and talked to him, but loud enough so Ricky would be sure to hear. "I heard a rumor Connor-Madison was going to customize stock trucks and tractors."

Chub guffawed. "I heard they built a hay baler that can reach three miles an hour in a quarter-mile drag."

"With frenched headlights," Link added.

"And a modified Merc power plant."

"What a bomb!"

Ricky swung around and leaned on the counter. Maybe because he'd known it was coming, it didn't bother him too much. They could rib him all they wanted to, the fact remained that Link was the only one he couldn't outrun on the road.

Link and Chub continued their loud jokes. Trying to be funny, Link got dirty.

Ricky scowled at Link's first dirty comment. At the second he turned toward Link. "All right, Link, take it easy," Ricky warned. He motioned toward Sharon and her friend.

"Look who's getting a pure mind all of a sudden," Link taunted. "I'm just telling you," Ricky said stubbornly. "Lay off the dirt." He stepped closer to Link. He was a little taller than Link, but Link was heavier.

The humor went out of Link's voice. He didn't like to be crowded. Not by Ricky. "Quit trying to throw your weight around," Link said, trying to stare Ricky down. "You give me orders, you'd better be ready to back them up."

"I am ready," Ricky said, meeting Link's stare.

"Aw, break it up," Chub cried. "Well," Link said. "Well yourself," Ricky answered.

Link grinned. He brought his left hand up for a quick push against Ricky's chest. Ricky knew that habit of Link's, and was waiting for it. The moment Link's hand moved, Ricky lashed out with his left. But Link's hand didn't touch him. There was a blur of motion in which Link's face moved out of range, and as Ricky's left pawed the air, Link came in over Ricky's head with a hard right. Link's knuckles met Ricky's chin, and Ricky went down on the seat of his pants.

When he scrambled to his feet, humiliated and raging, Jerry and Chub grabbed him.

"That's all, you crazy fools!" Jerry commanded sharply. He held Ricky back.

"Ricky just needed a little lesson, that's all," Link said. "He's a little free with his orders."

Ricky tried to pull away and attack again. "Simmer down," Jerry said disgustedly.

"Let go!" Ricky said hoarsely. "Let go!"

"What's the matter with you, Rick?" Chub asked. "Can't you take a little ribbing?"

"Not from that guy," Ricky muttered.

Link watched them pull Ricky away, and then, the victor in possession of the field, he waved an impudent salute and left.

Sherm finished reading the comic book he had borrowed from the rack and closed it with a sigh. He looked at Ricky and yawned. "You got a cut on your chin, Rick," Sherm said, pointing with a big finger. "You didn't wreck your car, did you? What happened?"

"Nothing, Sherm," Ricky answered.

"That's good," Sherm said. He went to the magazine rack and got another comic book.

Chub and Jerry went out, and drove away.

That left Ricky alone with Sherm—which was like being all alone. Ricky sat with his chin in his hands, brooding over the loss of a dream, and over the loss of the fight.

Ricky was surprised when Sharon took the seat next to him. He'd forgotten all about her. Remembering that she must have seen Link whip him, he felt a surge of shame.

"Thanks, Ricky," she said.

He didn't look at her. "I didn't do anything." He looked down sullenly. He didn't want her to get any idea that he had been fighting over her.

"You did a great deal," Sharon said. "You stopped his smutty talk."

"Yeah. With my chin," Ricky said bitterly.

"I like what you did, Ricky,"

Two Injured in Jet Trainer Crash

BELLEVILLE, Ill. (UP) — Two Air Force men were injured, one critically, Thursday when a T-33 jet trainer crashed during a take-off at Scott Air Force Base.

Airman 2. C. Larry G. Stevens, 21, of McCook, Neb., was flown to Brooks General Hospital, San Antonio, Tex., after treatment at the base hospital for critical injuries and burns.

Also hurt was Lt. Ronald D. Long, 22, Arispe, Iowa.

Base authorities said the two men were taking off in the trainer when it plummeted back to the runway and burst into flames.

A fine burial place for the dead is considered more important than a house for the living in the Ryukyus Islands.

Chuck Henshaw Hurls No-Hitter But Loses 3 to 0

"Chuck" Henshaw, Lions' hurler in the Kiwanis league, pitched a no-hit game Thursday and collected two bingles in four trips to the plate—but lost the game 3-0. The Karmes Hardware team, despite the fact they went hitless, racked up a 3-0 victory over Henshaw and the Lions, with walks and an error playing a big part in the run making. Henshaw has been touched for only one hit in three games this season. In other games yesterday the Jaycees defeated Excel, 4-2; the Coca Cola won from the Deuces, 15-1, and Turner's Cafe walloped the Elks, 29-2. The Jaycees and Excel went eight innings, before the former came through with the 4-2 victory. Edwards was the winner and Childs took the loss. Bob Weatherly had two hits to pace the winners at the plate. Crews hurled a one-hitter as the Cokes pounded out a 15-1 decision over the Deuces, with Taborn on the mound for the losers. "Butchy" Biggs, the broken-arm pitcher, again came through with a sterling performance, hurling Turners to a 29-2 victory over the Elks. Biggs performs with his left arm, which was recently broken, in a sling and yesterday allowed just two hits, while collecting three himself in 5 tries.

Pitcher 'Throws' Away Game

PHOENIX, Ariz. (U) — An Arizona-Texas League player literally threw away a ball game Thursday night. Bill Van Heuvel, left fielder for the El Paso Texans, presumed in the ninth inning that Jack Spence of the Phoenix Stars was crossing the plate with the winning run, so he threw the ball over the left field fence in disgust. Then Jack Haley, who had singled to left field, continued around the bases to score—and Phoenix won, 10-9.

FARTHER SOUTH: I had to go all the way to Vienna to learn that a total eclipse of the sun will occur June 30. A clipping in the Vienna Times says: "People in Johnson county, if they leave their beds early enough and if it is a clear day, will have the opportunity of seeing a total eclipse of the sun on Wednesday morning, June 30, according to Norman Veach of Vienna."

Mr. Veach states that lot since 1923 has the sun been in total eclipse so that it could be observed by Johnson county people, that it will be 17 years before another total eclipse will be seen.

"The sun will start its eclipse at 4 a. m. The sun will not rise until about 4:45 a. m. next Wednesday morning, but when it does it will be in partial eclipse. At approximately 6:30 a. m. the sun will be in total eclipse and will remain that way for five or 10 minutes."

What's this about Sal Maglie seeking out a St. Louis chiropractor to relieve his back miseries? Could be significant to the Giants' pennant hopes if the Barber's pitching edge is dulled. With baseball occupying whatever time his construction ventures don't, Lou Perini may step out of Milwaukee before long — because, one hears, of Mrs. Perini's insistence. When he was getting started, new U. S. Open champ Ed Furgol hit so many fairway spectators with errant drives, his insurance company cancelled his public liability policy. In addition to "Wingy," he's also called "Ol' Arm and a Half." Outspoken Ed's victory statement that he would be a playing champion was aimed at Ben Hogan and reflects the resentment the tournament pros felt towards choose-his-spots Ben.

Cincinnati outfielder Gus Bell is flirting with the batting leaders this season because, since he's learned to poke the ball to left, they're no longer packing the right side of the infield against him. In Toots Shor's after the Charles battle, Rocky Marciano confided to us the roughest part of the night was his descent from the ring, when he was knocked to his knees by the Brockton mob. "A guy could get hurt," he lamented. In the year and a half since he purchased his new home, Rocky has spent a total of 40 days there.

Roy McMillan, Reds' shortstop, is one of the few big-time athletes to come back successfully from a ruptured disc operation... which should augur well for Nippy Jones, who's rediscovered the batting range with Sacramento and has major league clubs interested. Hank Thompson gets rid of the ball quicker than any third baseman in the business... which accounts for the many double plays he starts for the Giants. "Catcher Wes Westrum says, 'I can't even throw a ball to right, let alone hit one there.' Yankee players aren't happy about the fact that home crowds are more hostile than those they've played before around the circuit. A trend: Casey Stengel, watching the White Sox practice, remarked: "Why, they've got more ball players than I've got."

Arnie Weinmeister, who skipped off to Canada, is preparing a national magazine blast against the frugal operations of the New York football Giants. One major league manager implores his club to "win one for dear old ——. This could be my last stop, fellas." Only to have one veteran pitcher retort, "I don't win for dear old ——. I win for my paycheck!" There are more sluggers whose names begin with "Ma"—Mathews, Mays, Mantle—not to mention a

Rookie Brooks Lawrence Hurls Four Hitter as Cardinals Beat Pirates, 5-1

By NORMAN MILLER
United Press Sports Writer
Lefty Billy Pierce of the Chicago White Sox, rookie Brooks Lawrence of the St. Louis Cardinals and two bullpen fugitives provided four embattled pennant contenders with a new pitching shot-in-the-arm today. Don Liddle of the New York Giants and Tom Morgan of the New York Yankees are the pitchers whose latest first-class starting feats indicate they may be taken off the relief roles where they have labored most of the season.

Pierce, sidelined for nearly one month because of a sore arm, pitched 2 2/3 hitless relief innings Thursday in preserving a 5-2 White Sox victory over the Washington Senators. The triumph moved the Sox to within two games of the first-place Cleveland Indians.

"Billy's ready now," said Manager Paul Richards after the game. "He was faster than he has been all year. This might be what we need to catch those Indians." Four-Hitter for Lawrence
Lawrence, a 29-year old 205-pound right-hander called up from Columbus last Tuesday by the pitching-poor Cardinals, pitched a brilliant four-hitter in his major league debut to beat the Pittsburgh Pirates, 5-1. The rookie's performance was a tonic to Manager Eddie Stanky, whose Cards boast the most robust batting attack in the majors, but a shallow pitching staff.

Liddle, who did not start this season until June 6, also pitched a four-hitter to help the Giants retain a one-game lead in the National league race with a 2-1 triumph over the Milwaukee Braves. Willie Mays drove in both Giant runs with his 23rd homer to take over the major league leadership. Liddle pitched his first complete game of the year in beating Warren Spahn in a left-handers' duel. Beats Tigers, 8-2.

Morgan celebrated his first Yankee starting assignment since May 23 by scattering eight hits to beat his prize patsies, the Detroit Tigers, 11-2. Morgan contributed a two-run homer in his own cause and Mickey Mantle a two-run double in a pair of three-run uprisings against Ned Garver. Of Morgan's five victories this season, three have come against Detroit.

In the only other American league game, the Cleveland Indians lost ground to both the pursuing White Sox and Yankees when they were beaten by the Philadelphia As, 5-1, on rookie Arnold Porter's five-hitter. The Indians now are four games ahead of the third-place Yankees, with whom they open a three-game series Friday night.

Perez is Favored Over Bassett

NEW YORK (U) — Young Lulu Perez of Brooklyn is favored at 17-5 to beat Percy Bassett of Philadelphia tonight in their official 12-round featherweight challengers' fight at Madison Square Garden. The winner of this nationally televised and broadcast bout will get an October title shot at Sandy Saddler, according to Robert K. Christenberry, chairman of the New York Boxing Commission.

Perez, 21, is favored over the 26-year-old Philadelphia Negro because of his speed and skill and because many boxing men believe Bassett is "washed up." Bassett is rated No. 1 among the world's feather contenders, Lulu No. 2. Perez is a good combination boxer-puncher who is seeking his 37th victory in 39 professional bouts. Bassett's record is 61-10-1.

Will Malaya Be Next Communist Target?

By FRED SPARKS
NEA Staff Correspondent
WASHINGTON, (NEA)—How will French setbacks in Indo-China affect the war in Malaya?

For eight years the British have been fighting Communists north of Singapore in jungles that provide rubber for half the cars in the U. S.

The High Commissioner, Sir Gerald Templer, fears Communist successes in Indo-China might turn Malaya into a major battlefield. This fits President Eisenhower's warning that if Indo-China collapsed the rest of Free Asia would go down like a row of dominoes.

Gen. Templer was to leave Malaya in June, but Her Majesty's Government, studying the Oriental timetable of trouble, might extend his tour.

The Communists have been content so far to keep the trouble small-time. There are only 5000 active guerrillas. No one doubts that, with Chinese aid, enough citizens with ancient hates against the British can be found to graduate the insurrection into the big time.

The guerrillas have already cost England one billion dollars building plantations into stockades and guarding transport. The Royal Express from Singapore to Kuala Lumpur posts this sign: "In case of firing from the line-side, passengers are requested to lie on the floor." Countless acres of rubber trees have been slashed by hoodlums.

Radio Peking continually talks of a Red flag flying over the Cricket Club, next to Singapore's famed Raffles Hotel, one of the few remaining monuments of yesterday's Empire. There is foot traffic from China across the wilds of Thailand into ungarded border strips of Malaya.

Recently, with Thai permission, British officered Malayan soldiers completed an exhausting 122 day patrol in Thailand's aborigine country to destroy Red food dumps. Cutting their way through jungle vines with parangs, they averaged but 12,000 yards a day.

The aborigines, who don't know Malenkov from McCarthy, house Communists. When well dressed they wear a G-string, and in this H-bomb age they use blow-guns with poison darts.

If Indo-China should become a Red state, joint defense of Thailand and Malaya would be logical. Manhunting the guerrillas are a 20,000 British expeditionary force (including draftees), 70,000 police and 10,000 native troopers.

The expeditionary force has Sikhs from India who never cut their hair or beards, braiding same into head knots under turbans. Also Dyaks from Borneo, descendants of headhunters, who serve as jungle trackers.

To further prove how closely knit are Asia's troubles, the Malaya Communist GHQ is now believed to be on a Communist dominated section of Sumatra, in Indonesia. From there and Red China itself, ocean-going junks can put men and weapons on lone some beaches of the Malayan peninsula.

Templer has gained ground in the last three years by combining anti-Red salesmanship with brass

Fight 'Phantom War' in Jungles Of Guatemala

TEGUIGALPA, Honduras (UP)—Two armies fought a "phantom war" today in the steaming tropical forest inside the Guatemala border.

Sandal-shod anti-Communist invaders using hit-and-run guerilla tactics raided highways, railroads and border villages but vanished into soggy undergrowth when Guatemalan government troops resisted.

Propaganda machinery of the pro-Communist government of President Jacobo Arbenz Guzman and the liberation forces under command of rebel Gen. Carlos Castillo Armas both claimed impressive and "bloody" victories in press releases.

But neither side offered any real evidence to confirm their claims. The Guatemalan government said men injured in a battle for control of Chiquimula, a highway-rail center 65 miles northeast of Guatemala City, were being brought to capital hospitals.

Ask Blood Donors
Shortly after the announcement was made, the "Voice of Guatemala," mouthpiece of the Arbenz regime, broadcast appeals to blood donors to report to four Guatemala City hospitals.

The number of casualties was not disclosed, but the propaganda office of the presidential palace accused the rebels of committing "all sorts of outrages in places they occupied temporarily."

More than 20 American and British newsmen, radio, picture and newsreel correspondents gathered at Tegucigalpa thus far have been barred from joining the rebel forces and have seen only guided tour evidence of fighting inside Guatemala.

Sixteen newspapermen on the other side of the lines have been virtually confined to their hotels in Guatemala City by rigid Arbenz censorship.

Doctors Defend Polio Vaccine At AMA Meeting

SAN FRANCISCO (UP)—The man who developed gamma globulin said the serum gives "proved" protection against paralytic polio—if injected at the right time and to the right people.

Dr. William McD. Hammon of the University of Pittsburgh defended the serum in a talk to the 103rd annual convention of the American Medical Association Thursday. The five-day meeting closes today.

Another doctor, Kenneth S. Landauer, assistant medical director of the National Foundation for Infantile Paralysis, said the foundation is "most hopeful" about the Salk vaccine, injected into some 430,000 school children in 43 states earlier this year.

"So far it's not been proven that it definitely protects against paralytic polio, but we should know by early next year," Landauer said.

Hammon said the reason behind the "failure" of the 1953 mass inoculation program using gamma globulin has been discovered. He said it failed because it was given to persons already infected.

Landauer said the Salk vaccine may well immunize children for life. He said it does not wear off, since children injected with it manufacture their own antibodies instead of receiving them from adults, as in gamma globulin.

Even the great Singapore naval base, a vital part of any Allied defense of Asia, must be guarded against saboteurs. Warships are docked 15 miles inland up a muddy puddle of a river called the Straits of Johore.

Equatorial thickets on both sides provide ideal cover for snipers. The navy base is a seaport in the jungle. Nature has indeed been good to Oriental communism, which softens up a foe for eventual conquest by internal terrorism.
